

Vuzix Completes the Development and Delivery of a Customized Waveguide Solution for a Major International Defense Contractor

ROCHESTER, NY, December 15, 2020 – Vuzix® Corporation (NASDAQ: VUZI), ("Vuzix" or, the "Company"), a leading supplier of Smart Glasses and Augmented Reality (AR) technology and products, is pleased to announce that the Company has completed the development and delivery of a customized waveguide solution to fulfill the terms of the first phase of the multi-stage agreement previously announced on September 3, 2020. This delivery is now being reviewed by the customer and it is expected that subsequent project phases will commence in near future which will generate additional non-recurring engineering (NRE) revenues and if successful ultimately result in an accepted final product design that can lead to a volume production order.

"We are pleased with the progress we continue to make with this major international defense contractor as we pursue further development work that can lead to a significant production opportunity," said Paul Travers, President and CEO of Vuzix. "OEM customized waveguide-based projects such as this should represent a profitable vehicle for leveraging our extensive optical expertise and IP and we look forward to announcing further developments with this firm, as well as several others, going forward."
